A CULTURAL EXPLOSION AWAITS FOR ASSO SQUARE 2019

Castries, St. Lucia, December 28, 2018 – Thousands are expected to converge on Castries for the annual Assou Square celebrations.

The activity will run from 10am – 11pm on January 1 and 2, 2019 at Derek Walcott Square.

The event once again this year is being hosted by the Castries Constituency Council.

According to the Mayor of Castries, His Worship Peterson D. Francis, “Assou Square has always been a family affair hosted as a new year’s fair focused on children and in 2019 it will be no different. For decades it has been one of the island’s premiere events on the calendar, celebrating a rich culture and folklore and we are bent on improving the general ambience.”

Traditionally, Assou Square has been an event built around the old-style cuisine of the holiday season, children’s toys, games, rides and displays, clothing and cultural entertainment presentations.

This year’s event will feature a wide-ranging variety including, cartoon characters, face painting and bouncing castles for children, masquerade parade, trolley train ride and a heavy line up of entertainment for the two-day period.

Assou Square 2019 will create an experience which the entire family will enjoy.
